Annotation:

The article raises the issue of educating a comprehensively developed generation, which is one of the main social tasks of society, closely related to the activities of the family. And also the article talks about the importance of creating a physically strong, spiritually strong and intelligent healthy generation, which is the main task of the family. In this regard, the author emphasizes that the country pays great attention to strengthening the family and its upbringing, the spiritual well-being of the family, its place and importance for the stability of society.

Key Words:

Family, education of youth, harmoniously developed generation, spirituality, national ideology, personality.

The foundation of the family and society. In the minds of our children, the feeling of love for the country is formed in the family, in the area where they live. The future, peace and prosperity of the country depends primarily on our children growing up in this small society. In what family, in what area, when there is a good upbringing, this family, this area will flourish.

The question of when to start raising a child worries many. Many scientists answered differently. In particular, Ibn Sina replied that it is necessary to raise a child from the mother's womb before birth.

Focusing on family, morality, and education is one of our most cherished responsibilities. The proverb "Seven neighbour's parents for one child" is also typical for our people. This proverb itself shows how important parenting is to us. The residents of the quarter, especially the elderly, never passed a child who did bad things on the street, and immediately scolded him and called him to the right path. Because our sacred religion, which commands us to be beautiful in all respects, to be polite, to have good manners, to purify our souls, attaches great importance to the family.

The family environment is stable when parents feel responsible. Along with parents, the community is a great role model for children who grow up and be raised. It is not by chance that our people say: "He does what he sees in the bird's nest." Because a child is by nature very imitative and observant. Therefore, others influence them with their habits, sometimes without even realizing it. Tough family relationships, a lot of lies and unpleasant behavior create an unhealthy environment that negatively affects the upbringing of a child.

The attitude of the parents plays an important role in the upbringing of children. When a child grows up, hearing harsh words from his parents and beating him, this negatively affects his character. This, in turn, leads to the formation of "mentally ill" people from a child raised in an unhealthy family environment. They also negatively affect the morale of the community. Parents' familiarization with "mass culture" in the family also negatively affects the upbringing of children.

Thanks to independence, our people travel abroad and return to witness new peoples and traditions. In particular, our citizens, who today travel to European countries, have a higher level of organized crime and violence among Western adolescents than among young people in other countries. This is because children are given more freedom than they need. Now they are told that no one will stop them from immorality.

A special role in the harmonious development of our youth is played by the mahalla, family, public organizations and educational institutions, taking care of the younger generation, striving to bring up a healthy, harmoniously developed person - the national characteristics of our people. Indeed, a harmoniously developed generation first appears in the family, which grows up in a family environment as good or bad people.

First President I. Karimov, stressing the important role of the family and parents in the spiritual and moral education of young people, said: "A child from birth lives in a family environment. Family traditions, values, customs make up the child's family. most importantly, children understand and feel the needs of society through the school of family life. Parents have responsibilities to their children, they have debts that will improve their future. These are: to become famous, to transfer into the hands of a good teacher, to be literate, educated, professional, to have a head and a home. "

The development of family spirituality as a person, the existence of a certain spiritual world of each family member is based on the relationship between them. The spiritual qualities of the father and mother in the family determine the level of humanity and morality of the Eastern traditions of marital relations. It is important that the spiritual world of the family embodies such spiritual values as mutual respect, respect, cooperation, tolerance, kindness, compassion, kindness, patience, humanity, nobility, respect for adults, respect for children. Respect for and adherence to such values in the family creates such a spiritual environment in the family. This is very important in shaping the hearts and minds of the younger generation. On this basis, conditions are created for the full realization of the talents and potential of each family member. As a result, the family is formed as a place of spirituality.

Family parenting is a step in a universal process that will later become the basis for enlightenment and life lessons that you will receive throughout your life. Each parent must understand their responsibilities, try to fully comply with all the features that ensure the stability of the family, understand its tasks and goals.

As President Shavkat Mirziyoyev noted in his speech at the IV Congress of the Kamolot Youth Public Movement, "Today it is becoming more common in our country. The call to "take care of your own child" should not only be a dry slogan, but also a practical action that should penetrate deeply into the hearts of every parent and every citizen. I think it's time to strengthen this issue, that is, the responsibility and duty of parents for raising children legally. "After all, each parent is responsible for the upbringing of their child. An important condition for the upbringing of our children is building a family on a solid, spiritually healthy foundation, especially if the parents themselves are brought up. Today, parents are the child's teachers. Because a child's interest in language learning and reading begins with the family. Today, in order to protect our children from all the evil that alienates them from humanity, it is necessary to motivate them to study and read books. Every parent should feel responsible for raising their child at every moment.

Only when the family has a healthy environment will they become a healthy, versatile person. The role of family spirituality in the upbringing of young people is especially important, especially in the upbringing of the next generation, physically strong, mentally healthy, possessing a universal culture, high level, modern knowledge and profession. It is noteworthy that in the writings of our great thinkers on family education, in our sacred books, he expressed his views. In particular, the Islamic teaching on parenting says: "In Islam, education is more important and comprehensive than education. Because the upbringing brought up the child to work a lot at home, on the street, at school, in order to control his manners, act rationally, subjugate his body and soul. The basis of upbringing is a family environment. The child grows up by imitating what he sees at home. In a family, the father should be generous, calm, thoughtful and a little more political, and the mother should be kind, compassionate, not cursing her children in vain and tenderly.

In cases when decisions of an election commission are declared invalid, the election commission that adopted them shall be obliged to prove the circumstances on which these decisions were based.

Therefore, in order to study corruption, conflicts of interest, it is necessary to analyze a number of official crimes, as well as the areas of service of officials.

In the family, the upbringing of girls is given special attention. Parents are also obliged not to marry the girl earlier and to send her to study. In this regard, the state created a number of conditions, and then set a number of tasks in order to pay more attention to this issue. In particular, in his speech at the IV Congress of the Kamolot youth public movement, President Shavkat Mirziyoyev said that "it is necessary to further strengthen the work to protect the rights and interests of our girls, to reveal their talents and abilities, to educate real leaders among them." family, first of all, the most valuable traditions for a girl are formed, such as honesty, truthfulness, honor, modesty, hard work, human qualities. Each family member is a sacred place of spirituality, ensuring the development of national and universal values that preserve the continuity of the nation, bringing up spiritually and physically harmonious generation. The family is the main basis for the formation of a person as a person, finding his place in life, gaining respect in the country. The family is the center of education that ensures the continuity of life, preserves our sacred traditions and at the same time has a direct impact on how future generations will become human. Today gender It is useful to educate unorganized youth in a family environment as a spiritually mature person and pay attention to the following issues in overcoming their shortcomings:

1. Further improvement of the family morale system.
2. Introduce new procedures for raising girls based on our national values and traditions.
3. Bringing the problem of physical culture to the level of family values.
