Annotation:

It is known that this period, called "New Uzbekistan", "New stage of development of Uzbekistan", plays a very important role in the history of our country, in our relations with the world community. This period is a period that has completely changed Uzbekistan, the political, social and economic relations in the life of our society, introduced our country to the world in a new, democratic way. Along with the citizens of our country, groups of experts, as well as leading statesmen and public figures, prominent scientists and analysts in world politics, many positive opinions are expressed, the highest recognition and appreciation is expressed.

Keywords:

New Uzbekistan, state power, public relations, new features, new principles.

Modern information and communication technologies have given a new spirit to the relations of the state and society. The sphere of development contributes to the introduction into practice of new forms of relations between the state and society, state bodies and citizens. In this sense, the virtual lobby of the president of the Republic of Uzbekistan plays an important role as an indicator of the effectiveness of the activities of the bodies of state power and management, as well as a mechanism for in-depth analysis and solution of problems in the localities. In a short period of time, the virtual reception has become an effective tool for solving the problems of the population. This is confirmed by the statistics of appeals. That is, to date, more than one million applications have been received from citizens, of which 94% have been considered. Thus, the principle of accountability of state bodies and officials to society is being put into practice. Citizens have become more involved in the country's reforms. This is an important factor in strengthening mutual trust between the state and the people, the stability and development of society. Most importantly, experts note that there are positive changes in the minds and worldviews of the population. In their view, this is a key factor in fulfilling the tasks facing society.

Throughout our country there are educational and cultural events under the slogan "New Uzbekistan – new world outlook". The team of the International Islamic Academy of Uzbekistan is also actively involved in these events, which are being held in high spirits on the spot. It is no secret that the development of our country, the efforts for the welfare of our people are rising to a new level. A clear example of this is the fact that people's lives are improving day by day, the joy on their faces, the confidence in the future is growing. Radical reforms in the life of our country show that the worldview of every citizen living on this land is changing, and the sense of involvement in the fate of the country is growing. Ancient history has shown that it is never easy to innovate in this life, to change the old patterns and patterns that most people have learned and become accustomed to. Whether we want it or not, such an action will face obvious or Pinnacle obstacles in any circumstances. In particular, the issue of awakening the people, bringing a new life-giving breath to the Dark Souls, the complete renewal of state and community management requires greater responsibility, courage and wisdom from a leader who has taken on a great mission as a reformer.

Generally speaking about the reforms being carried out in our country, the Head of our country humbly states that "We are still searching, we are studying", there are some important and urgent tasks ahead of us on this path. Indeed, at the present time, from the leader of our country to the leaders of all parts of the country, the leaders are trying to work in New conditions, in a new environment, to search, study and work on the basis of regular communication with the people.

This trend is especially evident in the context of the coronavirus pandemic, which has not bypassed Uzbekistan as well as other countries around the world. Leading international experts and analysts acknowledge that this feature is one of the key factors in the success of large-scale change in Uzbekistan.

Today, as we are building a new state, a new society, there is no doubt that in this system, social and political relations, people's consciousness and thinking are also characteristic, at the same time, absolutely new meaning is acquired. First of all, the relations of the state with the individual and society with the person must be completely new, new content and form, new features, new principles. In other words, all this should be a relationship that meets the essence of new values and democratic principles, our own way of life and way of thinking, the requirements of a fair society that we seek to restore. The most important aspect of this process is that every citizen, every person, must determine his attitude and place in the development of society and its renewal, and, if necessary, his duty on this basis. The focus should be on the same problem. In the current context of building a humane, democratic society in Uzbekistan, uniting our nation and people around a certain idea, irrigating them with the idea of national independence, every citizen, young and old, should be able to do so. He should take an active part in the ongoing reforms in the country. The idea of national independence is based on the principle that humanity is the priority of human dignity, honor and dignity, rights and interests. Undainson's life is of the highest value. This principle is not temporary, but embodies the prospects for democratic development of Uzbekistan. In this case, the humane and democratic principles of the national idea serve as a base and a unifying factor that determines the harmony of the interests of man and society.

The head of state provides ample opportunities for the people of Uzbekistan, especially young people, to get an education and further develop their talents, especially in cultural centers in remote villages, amateur art groups, youth theater studios and youth clubs. »Activities have been launched. Measures have also been taken to ensure maximum coverage of young people at more than 12,000 sports facilities across the country, and all secondary schools are fully equipped with sports equipment. At the same time, small gyms and artificial turf pitches made of lightweight sandwich panels have been built in remote and remote areas. The number of sports schools for children and teenagers has increased.

Digital technology training centers are being established in all regions on the basis of international best practices in protecting young people from harmful attacks on the Internet and training them in the effective use of information technology. These facilities provide free e-commerce and programming training, innovative business skills in information technology, and support for startup projects. An action plan to provide computer classrooms in all schools with modern technologies and high-speed Internet will be developed and implemented in stages by 2021. The new computer game centers will be equipped with tests, quizzes, development strategies and other useful programs aimed at expanding the knowledge and outlook of the younger generation.

In general, Uzbekistan is doing its best to create modern, advanced and innovative conditions for young people to get an education, acquire a profession and grow into mature people. Because the more attention is paid to the support of the younger generation, their spiritual maturity, physical health, patriotism and selflessness, the protection of their rights and interests, the greater its effectiveness.

That is why Uzbekistan sees the youth, which is recognized as an active part of society, not as a "problem", but as a great force for the country's development, a strategic resource of the state. As a result, today's highly educated, modern-minded, determined young people are becoming an increasingly decisive force in the future development of the country.
