Which nation or society has a bright future in the present and a certain socially favorable environment and development for the future, while future generations care about the fate of their children, they are determined to implement and develop and develop. pays great attention to the field. We all know that choosing and using the most effective and correct way to work for a high goal and goal will ensure that the result is perfect and complete. In these processes, each society and state chooses a certain path and strategy. In particular, it can be said that a number of reforms and practical work are being carried out in this area in our country. In our country, special attention and opportunities are being created for young people as a driving force of social and economic development. At the same time, young people are given opportunities, conveniences, as well as high confidence. In this regard, President Sh. Mirziyoyev's words to the youth are a proof of our words: "We have set ourselves the great goal of building the foundations of the Third Renaissance in our country, for which we will educate new Khorezmians, Beruni, Ibn Sino, Ulugbeks, Navoi and Baburs. we need to create an environment and conditions. At the same time, first of all, the development of education and upbringing, healthy lifestyle decisions, the development of science and innovation should serve as the main pillars of our national idea.

To achieve this goal, our young people must set great goals, create ample opportunities for them to achieve them, and provide them with all possible assistance - a priority for all of us. Only then will our children become a great and powerful force that will fulfill the age-old dreams of our people. "[1] The main task required of young people is to respond directly to such high confidence and the opportunities created.

If we pay attention to the ongoing socio-economic, spiritual and educational reforms in our country, the laws, decisions, decrees and orders, we can say that it has created a new era in the reform of the youth. Any reforms and opportunities, there is a certain basis at the root of the social processes taking place in the life of society and the state. If we look at the direct basis of youth reform, it has its own legal basis. The first and most important of them is the Law of the Republic of Uzbekistan "On State Youth Policy", adopted on September 14, 2016. This law contains 4 chapters and 33 articles. The first article of the law states: "The purpose of this law is to regulate relations in the field of state youth policy" [2]. It provides information and guidance on youth issues in our country, the opportunities and facilities provided to them, the responsible authorities and government agencies, as well as many issues in general, and strengthens its legal framework. At the same time, this legislation reveals the essence of the content of state youth policy with separate comments. "State youth policy is a system of socio-economic, organizational and legal measures implemented by the state and providing conditions for the social formation of young people and the development of their intellectual, creative and other potential" [3].

At the same time, the introduction of a completely new system of "Youth Book" in the country for social activism and vocational training among all segments of the youth, the provision of social assistance to them, It focuses on young people who do not have a permanent source of income and are unable to find a place in society, or who have difficulty finding it, to create special benefits for them, It is possible to say that the issue of promoting entrepreneurship and vocational training in various spheres of life and increasing the activity of the youth in the process of reducing poverty among the population was raised. At the same time, in many video conferences and conferences chaired by the President of our country, to increase the social activity of young people, the issues of employment and meaningful organization of leisure time, the formation of a sense of belonging in them are identified as the main tasks on the agenda.

December 25, 2020 in our country was the day of the Republican "Youth Forum", which left an indelible mark on the lives of young people and contributed to great social changes, enthusiasm and enthusiasm. At the meeting, which took place in the form of an open dialogue, young people demonstrated their activity with their practical proposals and initiatives, ideas. The problems that plague young people in every field, in every sector, were clearly and boldly stated to the head of state. Government grants have been increased for women from low-income families in need of social protection to enter higher education institutions. Such charitable initiatives have paved the way for a sense of patriotism and belonging to the poor among the poor. Starting from the 2021-2022 academic year, Presidential scholarships have been introduced for students with the highest scores in the entrance exams. For young people who are committed to science and set high goals for themselves, such grants give them a special passion and energy as a means of motivating their practical work. In order to organize the problems of young people, to work systematically with them, to form mechanisms for effective work with young people, the platform "Youth Appeal" is being created. Through this platform, young people can submit their proposals to the relevant organizations and institutions. The Ministry of Investment and Foreign Trade has allocated $ 100 million to finance youth projects, realize their dreams and goals, support them in all possible ways, and create the necessary conditions for them. In order to ensure youth employment and create the necessary conditions for young people in need of unorganized work, it is planned to build "youth small industrial" zones, and the final stage of the project is being implemented in many districts of the country. As a result of job creation, it has a great positive effect on the prevention and reduction of crime among young people. Through the implementation of the project "Youth Small Industrial Zones", they will have the opportunity to work in a small district, a small neighborhood. At a time of rapid technological development, in order to expand the opportunities for young people to work with information technology and software products, the project "One Million Programmers" plans to provide free training to 300,000 young people. Through this, the main goal is to form a layer of young people in the age of technology, who are well-rounded and effectively use information technology. Today, it is difficult to find an area where computer technology has not penetrated. Many problems and shortcomings in the field of software will be eliminated by training young programmers.

It should be noted that today our country is a country that has an active position and a place and image not only in domestic politics, but also in the world of lawmaking and initiative. Especially when it comes to age. In particular, speaking at the 72nd session of the UN General Assembly, which has a place and importance in the international political arena, President Shavkat Mirziyoyev focused on youth issues in the world: "The world's youth today are the largest generation in human history in terms of numbers, numbering 2 billion people. The future of our planet depends on how our children grow up to be human beings. Our main task is to create the necessary conditions for young people to show their potential, to prevent the spread of the "virus" of violence. We believe that this requires the development of multilateral cooperation in the field of social support of the younger generation, protection of their rights and interests. In this regard, in the current context of globalization and rapid development of information and communication technologies, Uzbekistan proposes to develop a generalized international legal instrument for the formation and implementation of youth policy - the UN International Convention on the Rights of the Child. In our view, the signatories of this document must make a firm commitment to make this area one of the main and vital priorities of their social policy "[4]. Currently, as a practical implementation of this proposal and initiative, the draft Convention on the Rights of the Youth (consisting of 26 articles) is being discussed in Samarkand every year in August. It can be said that the bill reflects the rights and freedoms of young people, the creation of decent working conditions and benefits, social protection and a number of other norms.

However, it should be borne in mind that not all changes and reforms in society, events and happenings cover all levels of society at the level of social activity. In some cases, legal literacy and active citizenship are due to a lack of a sense of belonging, while in others it is influenced by the existing social environment. These conditions make all segments of society unaware of the opportunities and reforms, innovations and conveniences. From this point of view, we can say that today in the life of society and in all spheres in general, he is an example and role model, distinguished by his comprehensive activity, leadership and initiative in the social and spiritual-enlightenment spheres. Working with socially inactive youth, existing in society to young people who have formed their traits, that is, the systematic and precise organization and implementation of work under the motto "peer to peer" ensures a high level of psychological and human interaction between social strata. Through this system, starting from the process of school education will ensure that the social strata are qualitatively equal and have a high quality effect.

In conclusion, we can say that today we are creating a lot of opportunities for young people and covering all aspects of social life, and its legal framework is being strengthened. In these processes and in today's world, young people are required only to use these opportunities effectively and efficiently. During this period, it is wise for all young people to act with a sense of belonging and active citizenship. In vain, the head of our state expressed his confidence in the youth: "Every time I meet with our youth, I am strengthened by your enthusiasm, my heart rises like a mountain. I know that each of you is burning with the desire to serve our dear Motherland and people. I value you as the greatest wealth and priceless treasure of Uzbekistan. "[5]
